4-H Clubs Help Develop Good Individuals

Since the beginning of the 4-H Club program, one of its purposes has been to help improve living standards of our youth. Today, however, 4-H has more depth to its purposes. Emphasis has shifted to developing good attitudes and personalities. An attitude is the feeling or mood of the individual. The attitude of a 4-H'er determines to what extent he will enter a program or project to gain the most good from it. The 4-H organization, through projects and activities, tries to help youth develop good attitudes and have good personalities. For instance, a boy who chooses a health project has a chance to learn about physical care of his body as well as getting a good outlook on life. When a 4-H member is 14 years old, he may participate in the senior health project contest. This gives him an opportunity to challenge others. He learns to win without bragging; to lose without sulking; and to respect the opinions and viewpoints of others. Today, the 4-H project is one of the most important teaching tools of the 4-H program. Club members put subject matter learned at 4-H Club meetings into practice through demonstration and exhibits. Just 10 years ago most 4-H Club members were farm boys and girls. Now, about 49 percent of its members are rural, non-farm, urban and suburban. At the beginning of 4-H work the major objectives were to produce better livestock and crops, grow better vegetables, and prepare better home meals. Today, emphasis is on human development—to develop individual skills and talents, citizenship and personality. In the contest activities of the 4-H program, youth learn more about developing the heart, which is embodied in the 4-H pledge. It says, "I pledge My Head to clearer thinking, My Heart to greater loyalty, My Hands to larger services, and My Health to better living for My Club, My Community and My Country."

Through projects, programs and activities 4-H members learn to be loyal to appreciate nature and the finer things of life such as integrity, honesty and understanding of others. The 4-H pledge in its entirety, when followed through, lends itself to the development of the total person. A 4-H'er only needs to take a project and participate in programs and activities to develop within themselves good attitudes and likeable personality traits. This is what 4-H has done in years past and what it proposes to do in the future.

HONORED BY TEACHERS The senior members of the Elba Football squad and the senior cheerleaders were treated to a steak supper at Paul's Cafe recently by Mrs. Roy King and Mrs. Bill McCollough. The treat was a reward for winning the Elba-Opp football game. The teachers made the challenge and the team won the game - so the steaks. The entire team was treated to a fish fry by the Elba Quarterback Club on Monday night. The fish fry was held at C. O. Miller's plant.

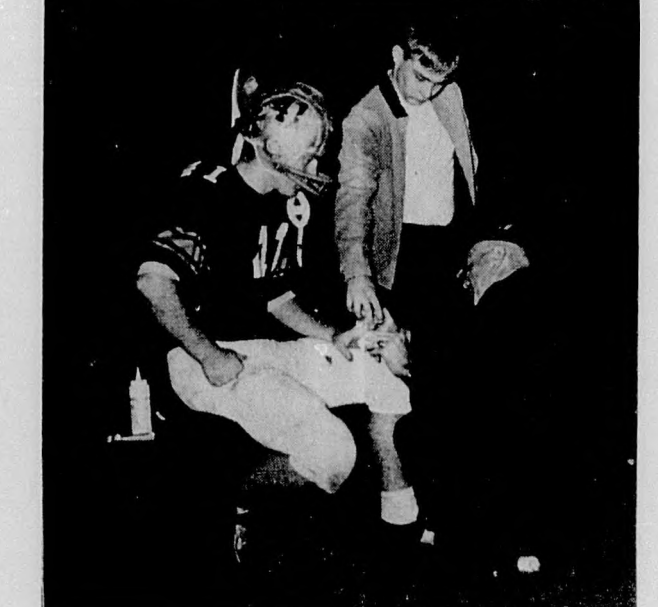

QUARTERBACK JOEL MARTIN is caught near the sidelines as he runs for good yardage against the Hartford bulldogs in the 14-13 Elba victory last week. Martin was injured later in the game and will miss several weeks action while his knee mends. This play was devised by Coach Leon Akins just last week to take advantage of an expected "double-teaming" of end Johnny Martin on anticipated pass plays. On this play the quarterback takes a pass and then runs around the end. This made good yardage for the Tigers each time because of the entire Hartford defense trying to stop that pass.

Farmers Named To Committee

Farmers recently named to serve as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Coffee County Committee are: Roy L. Ellis, Route 1, Enterprise, Chairman; Coley Killingsworth, Route Jack, Vice-chairman; and Leon Weeks, Route 1, Kingston, Regular Member. Mr. Ellis has one year remaining in a three-year term to which he was elected and Mr. Weeks has two years remaining in a three-year term to which he was elected. Mr. Killingsworth was re-elected to the committee this year for a three-year term.

Chairman Ellis points out that the ASC county and community farmer-committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Cropland Adjustment Program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, the upland cotton diversion program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the National Wool Program, commodity price-support loans and storage facility and dryer loans.

CALL THE DOCTOR was not necessary in Hartford last Friday night as the Elba Tigers defeated the Hartford Bulldogs 14-13. Dr. Crook was in the stands just behind the Tiger bench and was needed on the field three times in the course of the game. He was over the fence each time before anyone had time to call him. Here Dr. Crook splints a dislocated finger for David Stokes with the assistance of team manager Nicky (or Micky, they are twins) Mack while David's father Attorney Bill Stokes offers free advice from the rear. Dr. Crook also treated the injured knee of Quarterback Joel Martin, who will be out for the next two or three weeks and attended the Hartford player who was removed from the field in an ambulance. Later reports indicate that his injuries were not serious, though painful.

Dove Hunters Get Extra Hour Of Hunting Time

Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley announced Thursday that Alabama dove hunters will get an extra hour of hunting, effective immediately.

Kelley said that U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has informed him that dove hunting may begin at 12 o'clock noon instead of at 1 P.M. The 1 P.M. starting time had been in effect since the dove season opened last Saturday. The Fish and Wildlife Service is charged with the responsibility of setting the hunting hours on migratory birds.

The confusion on the hour when hunting may begin arose from the involvement of Daylight Saving Time.

Elba Study Club Begins New Year Of Work

The September meeting of the Elba Study Club, marking the beginning of its new year's work, was held in the home of Mrs. F. H. Murphree with Mrs. Duke Tatum serving as co-hostess.

Attractive decorations in a color note of pink and green adorned the reception rooms.

The Elba Study Club is the oldest active club in the city and has been an influential factor in its civic and cultural life since its organization in 1932 under the able leadership of the late Mrs. Ola Johnson Brunson, its first president. The theme for the club year's study is "The Changing Role of Women in the United States".

Roll call and minutes were read by the secretary, followed by a general discussion of the goals set for the year.

Miss Eunora Farris opened the program with a performance at a performance at Ft. Rucker. Tickets were priced to cover the actual cost of an extra day's stop-over in the area.

Even the coldest weather of winter won't spoil your visit to Sequoyah Caverns where the temperature is a pleasant 58 degrees the year round.

One of the South's underground wonderlands, Sequoyah is set among the picturesque hills of Dekalb County in northeast Alabama. The caverns feature lacy rock formations, fossils, a whispering waterfall and a mirror lake.

Smooth walkways with hand rails guide you through thousands of stalactites and stalagmites. Indirect lighting throughout the caverns illuminate the unusual shapes and colorful shadings of the formations. Rainbow Falls plunge directly out of Sequoyah's ceiling into Mirror Lake. The crystal-clear lake reflects a huge stalagmite with the inscription, "Sam Houston - 1859".

Sequoyah Caverns at Sequoyah include a mountain stream stocked with speckled trout, picnic grounds, tent camping area and a small buffalo and deer herd. Service stations, restaurants and motels are nearby.

To get to Sequoyah Caverns, turn off Interstate 59 on US 11 near Port Payne and drive north to Hammondsville and on to Valley Head.

Sequoyah Caverns, air conditioned by nature, is an interesting place to visit on your winter or summer vacation.

FARM NEWS

By Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman

I hope you will notice the stories and pictures in the paper this week. Mr. Dan Presley and Mrs. Virginia Dykes have assembled some material to point out 4-H work, as this week is National 4-H Club Week.

The theme this year is "4-H: A World of Opportunity." Many doors to great opportunities have been opened to both rural and city boys and girls. Mrs. Dykes and Mr. Presley are giving the Coffee County 4-H Club program good leadership and I know that opportunities in the years ahead will increase even more for our young people.

CORN CONTEST

I have checked several Corn Fields in the past few days. Our yields are running real good; however, I haven't found anyone yet who has made 100 bushels per acre. Mr. A. W. Wilson had a field that made about 80 bushels per acre and his son's field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also checked a field belonging to Comer and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain that the other field didn't. The Chamber of Commerce manager, O. I. Cunningham, is intensely in-

PEANUTS

I talked with Max Hildreth at the Sessions Oil Company the other day. Hildreth said that he would have some exact figures in a few days; however, he gave me some quick estimates of peanut yields. Runners brought an average of $16 a ton and Floriant brought $24 a ton. This is a better average price than normal. A lot of the farmers made a record crop money.

wise. Some lost several hundred pounds per acre due to weather conditions beyond their control. However, though, our farmers are more aware of producing high yields of peanuts than in previous years.

CATFISH PRODUCTION

Rex Lowery of Jack and Wilkinston is growing a lot of catfish. He has had some trouble in his production plans, but generally he's getting good results. James Rowell of Rt. 2 Elba is making plans to put in a pond and stock it with catfish.

I believe that Lowery and Rowell and also several others can succeed in catfish production by doing a good job with management and keeping overhead low enough to realize good profits.

SOYBEANS

I. S. Moore who works at the Elba Tractor Company, planted about six acres of soybeans this year and has a good bean crop. Moore is trying to learn something about growing them. Isaac Boutwell, who lives at 2141 Pinehurst Drive in Enterprise, has planted over 200 acres up near Brundledge. Boutwell told me that he won't make much money on them this year but he is learning how to control and handle weeds and grass.

This bears out some statements that Dean Bond, Soybean Specialist in Auburn, made concerning soybeans. Bond said that you have to learn how to grow them before you can be really successful. Of course, Tom Finley, Frank Britt, Jimmy and Earl Henderson have planted beans off and on for several years and know some of the ups and downs of this crop. Moorewell is planning to follow his beans with wheat. He wants to get the wheat planted before December 1 if possible.

SCENES OF ELBA HOMECOMING

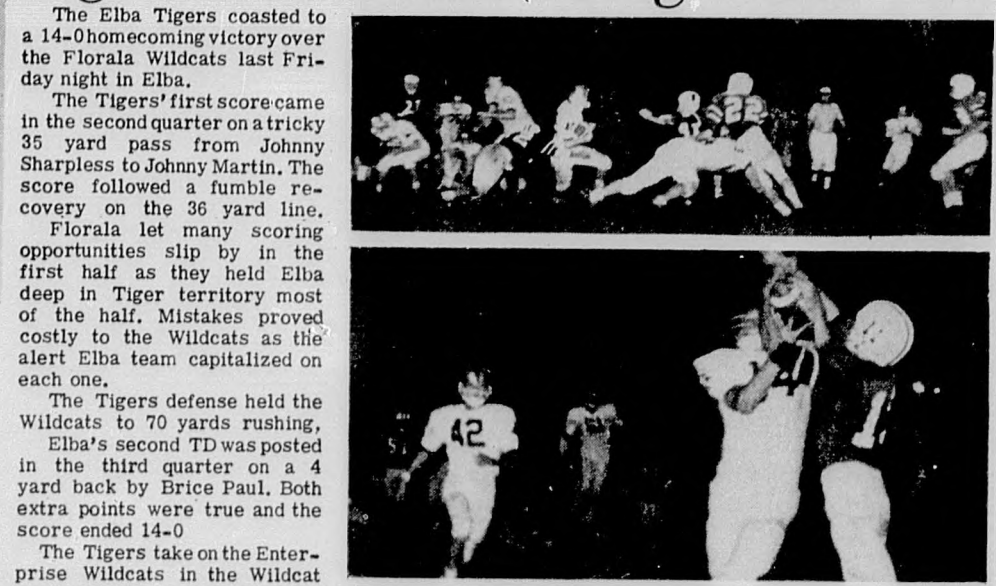

C. E. PEACOCK, superintendent of Coffee County Schools, is pictured demonstrating the new machines the schools have purchased for the purpose of testing hearing and sight. Co-op Moves To Sanford

Covington Electric Cooperative is moving to new quarters. President Ira Allen announced this week that the Cooperative expects to open for business at its new headquarters at Sanford, located on U.S. Highway 84 East between Andalusia and Opelika, on Friday morning, October 13. Business will be transferred from the office Covington Electric now serves over 10,700 customers in Covington, Coffee, Crenshaw and Geneva counties. For the past 23 years, Covington Electric's facilities have been operated under contract by Alabama Electric Cooperative, with the two organizations sharing joint headquarters on U. S.
